Editor's Window

Christmas has its own way of approaching. We stare in disbelief at the calendar. We mistrust the first, sharp astringency in the air. We look at our watches in confusion when they say five o'clock and the lights are on and the sunlight gone. We hear carols—impolitely premature, it always seems. And the unexpected jolt of a bow of red ribbon and holly branches seen for the first time, whether in a shop window or an advertisement, leaves us wondering what happened to September.

It works out sort of like an alchemist's contriving, seeking wonderful impossibilities. And each of us has his own personal touchstone which is ultimately struck by one thing or another, or the sweet, transparent persuasion of all of them, so that, one day, quite suddenly, and without particularly intending the time, we say to ourselves, "Christmas is coming!"

Abruptly, the eagerness we knew as a child, the hope and anticipation, the certainty of goodness and some eternal yearning towards warmth and joyousness stir like ardent shadows.

It is the one time of year when it makes sense.

Even though it is a panorama of contradictions; even though it makes up like a mosaic of paradoxes; even though it sometimes clangs on the crisp evening air like an out-of-tune carol of good intentions, the spirit of Christmas is in the streets of town. Trembling in the shop windows, perceptibly tingling in the crowds that throng and press, beckoning with sweet inducements that catch at the eye, pluck at the ear and assail the nostrils with heavenly fragrances, it makes walking about a sort of wonderful pilgrimage.

Silent Night, Holy Night

In the leaded window of the Tuck Box are jars of marmalade and tea and jam, and holly and a red bow.

All Is Calm, All Is Bright

At Ted's a cardboard couple chase a single cardboard man round and round through opening and closing doors. They carry many packages, and move between giant bottles of whiskey. They never seem able to make up their minds. They go in and out all day, through the snow and whiskey, either removing gifts, or bringing them, or trying to give them to one another. They never seem to catch up.

Round Yon Virgin, Mother And Child

At Langer's, they say they can't put in a Christmas window. They only have delicate Scandinavian Christmas plates. The years they mark—1908, 1921, 1952, 1961—in their cold, clear blues, with scenes of snow and children and distant church steeples. And some would wish for the comfort of seeing plates with years like 1970. Or 2000.

Holy Infant So Tender And Mild

Santa Claus appears in many manifestations, a busy man of presentiment, who begins to look more and more worried in all his

If you have thought for all of these years that the section of beach and many of the majestic cypress to the left in the picture above have been in the public domain, Mr. Murray Metzenbaum thinks you're wrong. It's his, not ours.

Metzenbaum, who lives and votes in Beverly Hills, but who owns the house adjoining this site, has been waging a bitter and determined battle to block the subdivision into four building sites of property adjoining him to the south, belonging to Anita Doud and Kathleen Doud Watson.

The struggle has careened through the board of adjustments and the city council, and has now spilled over into superior court. Metzenbaum's suit against the city in the Doud matter will be heard next Wednesday.

Metzenbaum's position vis-a-vis the beach is dissimulating and contradi-tory. His attorney, Donald H. Smith, protests that he is inspired only by the purest of motives: to keep the beach gloriously natural. But he has now fenced off the land, posted it, planted it in ice plant, and installed sprinklers. So, in Beverly Hills this is natural, maybe?

Sleep In Heavenly Peace

In Draper's window there is a glorious montage for today. An eugenia shrub ornamented in gold balls is surrounded with shoes, a cane, shirts, something called a Kork Jack, neckties, cuff links, a martini set, scarfs, belts, a Kalmar seafood set, pajamas, an ice bucket, a cheese board, vests, a pepper grinder, vodka and bourbon decanters, a raincoat, "Free Parking, One Hour," colognes. And socks.

Oh Come All Ye Faithful
Gus Arrida has a radiant show case. Angels adore. In clay, in black and tan clay they kneel. And solemn ranks of carved wooden seraphim worship. And a tin angel, with glistening solemnity worships. The creche is clay. The whole tiny world behind glass is clay and stone and tin and wood. And sweet adoration.

Joyful And Triumphant

Mobiles are great this year, and things that hang green and red and gold in space. At Womble's green balls twirl in a paper cone that is flat in back.

rison, White and Unander—people who have given land to the city. Metzenbaum has the questionable distinction of being perhaps the first to try to take it away.

His bold seizure is a buccaneer tactic. He even offers the land back for a ransom: if the city will block the Doud subdivision.

The city is not interested. As a matter of fact, city attorney John Morse has, on instructions of the council, ordered Metzenbaum off the land. The likelihood that Metzenbaum will comply is about as remote as the possibility that the council will erect a monument to him in Devendorf Plaza.

But this should not worry public-spirited Murray Metzenbaum, who has built his own monument, an arrogant and contemptuous little enclave which bears the commemorative tablet, "NO TRESPASSING!"

HIS, OR OURS?

Food For A Feud

It's not even a tempest in a teapot. It's a tempest in a demi tasse.

This is what Joe Belici, currently embroiled in a dispute with Philip Coniglio over what may be sold at the City of Florence, a block away from Coniglio's Mediterranean Market, termed the pungent Sicilian feud between the two.

It has to do with Venetian glass, baskets and other Italian items which Coniglio claims are primary features of his Mediterranean Market business, and which Belici calls only incidental to the sale of salami, cheese, coffee, wine and a gourmet's delight of foreign delicacies.

Belici recently sold the Mediterranean Market at Mission and Ocean to Coniglio, then opened the City of Florence at San Carlos and Ocean. Now, the two shops stand, in effect, backs opposed, glowering in opposite directions, but sullenly aware of the other and unhappy about the whole thing.

"He broke his agreement with me (not to compete in the same business or one of a similar nature) the minute he opened that store," Coniglio has grumbled.

"I have over $5,000 in Venetian glass, Deruta ware, coffee pots, baskets and things, and this is just the sort of thing he is featuring."

Belici retorts, "I'm competing with him like a creamery competes with a restaurant, or a barber shop with a beauty parlor. Or a hardware store with a builder's supply. So they both sell things."

"And what about baskets? Where does it stop? Maybe I should not sell bread baskets. And the Venetian glass lamps. What about the Venetian figures?" he asks, picking up a multi-colored rooster.

Coniglio's attorney has filed the restraining complaint, but Belici professes not to know what will happen next. "That's for the lawyers."

In the meanwhile, the air around the block is redolent with the fragrance of roasting coffee, soft valentino tangos and a hurt and resentful mood which doesn't seem to be doing either business any harm.

ORGANIZATIONS

Light Fantastic

Being a senior citizen has its occupational hazards. Recently a member of a senior citizens group on the "other" peninsula broke a toe while learning to tap dance.

The gravity of this disaster, which was not without its psychic hurt as well, was somewhat relieved because the center to which the light fantastic senior belonged carried group insurance.

While the policy compensated for this sort of mischief, apparently the insurance company was nervous about the sort of calamities that senior citizens get themselves involved in, and taking no chances on their whims and impulses, it allowed for broken dentures, but not natural teeth, a foolish exclusion, it seems, considering how many of those are likely to be involved in even the most abandoned exertion of our elders.

Nonetheless, the Carmel Foundation is going to establish a group policy for its members, to cover field trips, going and coming from the Center, and such other peripatetic activities.

Upon consideration, this is one time when a foot in the mouth might be endorsed.

SCHOOLS

50c Tax

The Board of Trustees of the school district have set an election for 19 February, 1963, on a five-year extension of the 50c override tax which has been in effect since 1958. Rejecting by a vote of three to one the recommendation of a citizens' committee that the district should seek a 75c tax, since it seemed required to meet future proposed budgets, the board majority appeared to be aligned on several points: no positive program could be produced to justify the larger tax; the voters might recoil at 75c and give no override at all; economies in future budgets might still be effected prior to their adoption.

Retiring chairman, Dr. Grant Fletcher, was in the minority present, although absent Richard Snyder, by letter supported him in seeking the higher tax. "I can't conceive of asking the taxpayers to approve a tax which will not do the job it should," he protested. But vainly, Robert Newton, seconded by Clayton Neill, Jr., moved the 50c tax proposal, and Mrs. Herbert Blanks voted with them.

Resignations

School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell, approaching the end of a sixteen-year career, last night submitted his resignation effective 30 June, 1963, saying, "I am most thankful for having been blessed with the privilege of serving in this pleasant community."

As anticipated, Dr. Grant Fletcher, chairman of the board, submitted his letter of resignation, effective 21 December, in order to assume duties as assistant professor of anesthesiology at Stanford.

Elections

The question of whether or not the residents of the Big Sur and Palo Colorado districts wish to join the Carmel Unified School District will be put to a vote by special election to be held in these two areas in January.

On 8 January, 1963, residents within the Captain Cooper elementary school district, which comprises portions of the Sur and Mission No. 2 general election precincts of Monterey County, will go to the polls in the Big Sur Grange Hall from 12 noon until 7 p.m.

On 15 January, between the hours of 12 noon and 7 p.m., residents within the Palo Colorado school district will decide at the polling place, Palo Colorado school, if their district wishes to be annexed to the Carmel unified school district.

Members of the election board for Big Sur are Grover Meyrose, Mrs. Irene Whitcomb and Mrs. Heidi Stiller; for Palo Colorado, Mrs. Fern Trotter, Mrs. Dorothy Atkinson and Mrs. Zula Long.

Annexation to the Carmel unified district would mean that the children from these two areas would, after completion of the grade school classes, attend junior high and senior high in Carmel instead of in Monterey, as at present.

Absentee ballots may be filed, prior to the election, with the County Superintendent of Schools, 132 West Market Street, Salinas.

GOVERNMENT

Forestry

The Forestry Commission, revived by last-minute ardent resuscitation, was given one more year of life when the council yesterday afternoon at an adjourned meeting, adopted an ordinance extending its operations to December, 1963, apparently determining for the moment whether the fortunes of the forest will rest in the hands of a commission or a professional forester, whom at least one councilman has favored appointing, if the commission had been allowed to expire.

Commissioners Gene Ricketts, Robert Strum, James Dixon and Richard Hittinger were reappointed. Former chairman Charles Myrick, who now lives elsewhere, was replaced by Mayor Eben Whittlesey, who appointed Mrs. Jean Chitwood, widow of the late, respected John Chitwood, former mayor.

Vet Victory

Before a surprisingly packed audience, the city council yesterday afternoon adopted an ordinance permitting veterinary clinics and dog grooming parlors under use permit in the C-2 zone of the city. Unmoved by the adamant opposition of J. O. Handley, who had fought the issue before the council earlier in the month, who was on hand with attorney Tom Perry and lone supporter Charles Schultz, the council listened for a while to other favorable pleas, then adopted the law without much debate.

Beer Bust

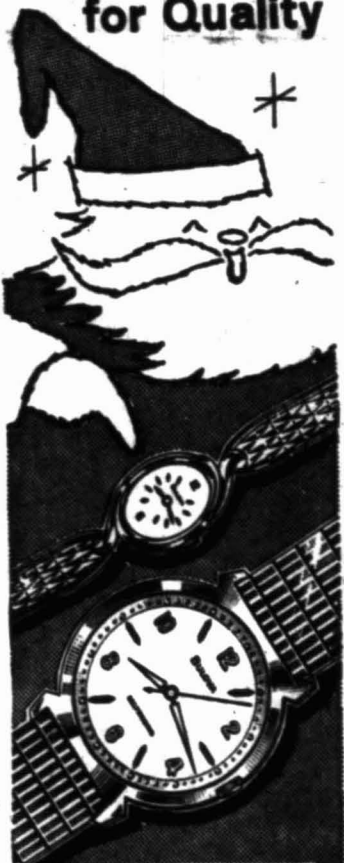

Michael Franke has been joined by twenty other electors — among them C. W. Fisher, Gunnar Norberg, August Nieto and P. A. McCreery — in appealing to the city council the recent decision of the Board of Adjustments which made possible the serving of food, beer and wine at the Studio Theatre on Dolores Street. The City Clerk has set the public hearing on the appeal for 9 January, at 8:00 p.m.

Champs

For the second straight year, coach Dick Lawitzke's Carmel Padres have come home with the trophies of the Gustine tournament. Along with the championship trophy, Richard Wise won all-tournament honors and the Most Valuable Player award. Richard's older brother won the same honors in 1958.

In the first night of play, a determined LeGrand team almost upset the tourney "dopesheet" as they led the Padres by 24-17 at half time, and 42-41 at the three-quarter mark. Carmel gradually chipped away the lead and finally pulled ahead to stay with four minutes to go in the game. The final score was 54-49, led by Wise's 20 points, DeWitt's 15, and Kelley's 14.

On Friday, after a double overtime game won by Newman over Los Banos 40-38, the Padres met Hughson. The Padres' diminutive guards, Jose Fernandez and Richard Wise, showed the way with their outside shooting and sharp passing to out-gun a taller but slower Huskie team by the score of 44-34.

In the final and championship game the Newman Warriors threw up the same tight zone defense they had used in the previous two games —so tight that Carmel could not get a man inside for a pass, let alone a shot; so Wise and Fernandez scored on 20-footers. Once the Padres were ahead, they kept the ball outside and made the Warriors come after them. This was the tempo of the game, and Carmel stayed ahead to win going away 30-23.

The shooting of Wise, Fernandez, DeWitt and Kelley led the scoring for the champs, while Belvall and Kelley swept the boards. Timely play by Enborg Halle, Rusty McCarthy and Dave Maher made the victory a true team effort. Steve Johnson, Dave Harris, Mike Brasher and Skip Mickelson rounded out the winning squad.

Coach Harold Lippstreu's lightweights bounced back in the second game to defeat the Gilroy lightweights in an overtime battle. Richard DiLorenzo was hotter than a firecracker as he scored 28 points. Dave Risdon played his best game as his fight and determination continually turned a loose ball into a score for the Padrebabes.

In the final game of the consolation finals, the Santa Cruz lightweights completely overpowered the Padrebabes.

Ed Brown was outstanding with his rebounding and steady scoring. Donel Giesen showed much improvement over previous games and bears watching for the future. Rick Miller made many good passes, but lacked the experience necessary for this tournament.

Profit

The recent Carmel High School scholarship carnival produced a net profit of $3,779.15, the 3 November financial report shows. The figure is somewhat less than that produced by the 1961 event, which netted $4,179.05. This may in part be attributed to the fact that the date originally set was rained out, and the carnival had to be re-scheduled.

The auction, realizing $537.14, was the greatest single source of revenue, followed by the gift booth, which brought in $494.27.

The football throw brought in $3.50, and the fortune telling concession produced $5.44, suggesting perhaps that an accurate eye and an accurate future have no compelling interest for most Carmelites.

Septic Tanks

The county now requires that a permit be obtained from the health department before commencing construction of septic tanks. Plot plans, showing important topographical details, must be submitted with the application.

Besides assuring health safeguards, Dr. Myron Husband, director of public health, believes that the permit system will preclude septic tank failures.

SOUND POST

Flamenco

Los Flamencos de la Bodega, a quintet of flamenco artists from San Francisco, were presented here last week by an organization calling itself Y. E. S., which stands for Youth Entertainment Service. Although the nature of Y.E.S. is momentarily obscure, if its purpose is to bring top entertainment to the Monterey Peninsula, things got off to a flying start. There was nothing obscure about the artistic prowess and talent of Los Flamencos de la Bodega.

Flamenco, a collective art of sound and motion which defies any sort of categorical definition, is, at the same time, one of the most intensely distinctive forms of artistic expression of which man is capable. Like jazz, its folk origins are inextricable, thereby disallowing certain established criteria for "art." Yet in its highest moments flamenco transcends the folk domain and becomes that thing which is hailed (albeit, glibly at times) as "pure" art.

Perhaps it is this very ambiguity, this hot, animated suspension between red clay and gleaming Eldoradian tower that is the fascination of flamenco, the mystery of its wild nobility. Los Flamencos de la Bodega held a Wharf Theatre audience in this realm of enchantment for an evening last week; an evening which surged with the chant and rhythm of Spanish flamenco.

A traditional program—Alegrías, Seguiriyas, Fandangos, Zapateado, Soleares, Tango Gitano, Bulerías—was transformed by their flaming dedication into richly sustained "moments of truth" (if I may borrow from another region of Spanish culture). Ole! Ole! To the dancers Ernesto and Brahmí Sardar, to Manolo Rodríguez, cantador, to guitarists Federico Mejía and David Serva, to Los Flamencos de la Bodega go the ears of the bull.

Oratorio

The Monterey Peninsula College Chorus and College Singers—two groups of students totaling 84—will present the college's 13th annual Christmas concert 19 December. The public is invited to attend without charge at 8:30 p.m. in the music hall on campus. No tickets will be required for admission.

With Dr. Harvey Marshall conducting and Miss Angie Machado assisting at the organ, the 70-voice chorus will sing The Infant Jesus, a Christmas cantata for mixed choir, strings and continuo by Dietrich Buxtehude; Motet VI: Praise The Lord, All Ye Nations by Johann Sebastian Bach; and selected Christmas carols.

The College Singers, with 14 members, will sing three selections from Handel's The Messiah: For Unto Us A Child Is Born, Glory to God, and Behold The Lamb Of God. John Erickson will conduct.

Joe Rodríguez will provide organ accompaniment for the College Singers. He will also play an organ prelude.

The Christmas concert is the first such program to be staged in the music hall. All Saints' Episcopal Church, Carmel, was the setting for the annual MPC presentation for several years; Monterey's First Presbyterian Church last year.

College Singers

The Monterey Peninsula College Chorus will make its debut in Bach's Christmas Oratorio Sunday in the MPC Music Hall.

The 60-voice group, formed last fall as an evening division class at the college, will be accompanied by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in its initial public concert.

John Gosling, conductor of the symphony, and founder of the chorus, will direct both groups. The concert, commencing at 4 p.m., will be open to the public without charge.

Soloists, all well known in the area, will include Lucy Martin, soprano; Karen Steinke, mezzo-soprano; Benjamin Cox, tenor, and the Rev. Paul J. Baird, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Monterey, bass.

An unusual feature of the concert will be the viewing of a new painting by Peninsula artist Sam Harris. Harris, a member of the choral group, has created the picture for the occasion.

The program will be presented "to create a greater interest in live music performances" with the co-operation of Local 616, American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the Recording Industries Trust Fund.

No tickets will be required for admission to the concert.

CHURCH

Choir

A musical program will be presented by the Carmel High School Choir conducted by John Farr in All Saints' Parish Hall, Lincoln and 9th Avenue, Thursday, 20 December, at 1:30 p.m. It is sponsored by St. Ursula's Circle, who will donate $25 to the school's scholarship fund and serve refreshments following the entertainment.

Advent Cantata

On Sunday morning, 16 December at 11 o'clock, the All Saints' choir with soloists and orchestra under the direction of John Gosling will present a Cantata for Advent, Rejoice, Beloved Christians. Shirley Hubbard, soprano; Julie Honnold, contralto; Melvin Taylor and John Farr, bass, with orchestra composed of Father H.

M. M. Nicholas, George Beck, John Erickson and Robert Phillips, with Robert Forbes, organist. This music is intended to emphasize the preparatory atmosphere of the Advent season, and it is hoped it will contribute to the listeners' worshipful observance of this period prior to the celebration of Christmas.

Pageant

The annual Christmas pageant of the Carmel Presbyterian Church will be presented by the choir and members of the church school this coming Sunday at a 5:30 vesper service in the sanctuary, the minister, the Rev. Dr. George Hunter Hall, announced today. Mrs. Albert A. Hood is the director of the pageant.

Miss Mary Kersting will direct both the junior choir and the adult choir. The guest soloist, Sylvia Davis, will sing The Birthday Of A King by Neidlinger, and O Holy Night by Adam.

Not a creature is stirring—and certainly not Santa. He's enjoying the comfort of an electric blanket. (He found it under his Christmas tree!)

Everyone likes the light-weight warmth of one electric blanket. You choose the warmth, and it stays the same automatically, even though the room temperature changes. It's a gift gratefully received. (The old blankets could be a gift, too—for CARE, 444 Market Street, San Francisco.)

Business

Aire-Born

The energetic Security National Bank is busy. They are going to drop Santa Claus by helicopter in Carmel Valley and open a new bank in Marina, all in December.

William Burkett, president, happily unconfused by the seeming contradiction of Santa and the helicopter, has said that the bank will open two more branches, "then we will settle back and remain small, solid and old-fashioned."

Old-fashioned Santa will arrive at the Carmel Rancho shopping center on Saturday, 15 December, at 1:00 p.m. He will hand out candy to children. Inside the bank.

The press release notes that it is the first time that Santa has

Gyps

Christmas is the time to be merry—and also to get gyped.

This is the warning being issued by the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. And by years of bitter experience.

"Watch false catalogue claims," urges the chamber, noting that claimed and actual retail prices may not be anything alike. And, being wary, the shopper will also shy from tricky price tags slashing prices, particularly at this time of the year, which has everything going for the seller.

Also treacherous are the meaningless guarantee, the usurious purchase contract and the "bait" ad.

where continued growth in public education helped to boost this category to an all-time high. All other major divisions except agriculture also were ahead of year-ago levels.

Unemployment in California, according to Irving H. Perluss, director of employment, rose to 367,000 in November from 312,000 in October, but remained under the year-earlier level of 392,000. Compared with a year ago, unemployment was down by 25,000.

INSURANCE

Flight

Tom Brown, of Tom Brown Insurance Associates, has flown to Indianapolis for an eight-day conference with managers and the field advisory council of the State Life Insurance Company. He will return on 16 December, probably covered with snow.

Mrs. Brown and the children remained at the family home in Mission Fields, where Tom recently celebrated his birthday.

Assessments

Per capita assessed valuations in Monterey County have reached $1,915, an increase of 2.6% from the preceding fiscal year. This is a point somewhere near the middle, between Mono County ($9,868) and Solano ($1,331). Comparative figures for Carmel, however, make it seem as if the city were in Mono County. With a population of 4,580 and an assessed value of $18,862,150 Carmel has a per capita of $4,118.37.

LABOR

Employment

Civilian employment in California declined and unemployment rose in November from the month earlier in keeping with the usual seasonal patterns, but both the number of job holders and of jobless reflected improvement from year-ago levels.

The employment total of 6,363,000 — a November record — was down from October by 117,000 in response to cutbacks in seasonal activities, according to Margaret R. O'Grady, state director of industrial relations. Retail trade posted the largest gain as stores added to their staffs in anticipation of the holiday season.

From November, 1961, employment increased by 191,000, or 3.1 per cent. Sizable rises from November 1961, were recorded in trade and in services, both at November records, and in government,

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES
Practically any investment decision involves the element of time. That is, the expectation that after a period of time, a certain objective will be attained. The objective may be either a growth in value of the investment, or a dependable and substantial income over an extended period; or, hopefully, a little of both.

With the thousands of securities that are on the market, how does an investor choose those issues that fulfill his objective? To do so with a degree of success requires some knowledge of the objectives of the companies in which he is considering investing. Some companies are growth minded, and some are content to go along with existing products. Expansion has its risks as well as its rewards.

It is in this field of setting an objective and accomplishing it that the investment companies seem to be building an unassailable record.

Those investment companies, or mutual funds, that have set as their objective stability of price and income have proven to be fairly impervious to the wide swing of the market that has occurred in the past few months. The funds that tended to invest in more speculative issues have experienced a greater degree of market fluctuation. While their prices dropped faster than the more conservative type, they have recovered faster in the recent upward swing.

This is not to imply that all mutual funds restrict their portfolios to one narrow category of investments. On the contrary, many of them try to have a variety of issues that cover a broad range of objectives. Also, many of them will modify their basic objective as economic conditions change. If business conditions look unfavorable they will lean toward more conservative investments. As the outlook improves, they will become more aggressive in their approach.

With the number of seasoned funds that are on the market now, an investor should be able to find several of them that fit whatever objective he feels is best for him.

Clubs

CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB

Carmel Woman's Club will hold its annual Christmas dinner and program on Monday at 6 p.m. Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard, who is arranging the program, will present Mrs. Norma Jean Hodges, soprano soloist, in several songs, including ones of light opera, with Mrs. Joy Olafeta as her accompanist. Mrs. Hodges will also sing Christmas carols and lead the audience in carol singing.

Assisting Mrs. Katherine M. Briggs in planning the party are Mrs. D. L. Staniford, Miss Augusta

As the recent record has shown, he can have the greatest confidence that investment managers, such as the mutual funds employ, can put together a portfolio of securities that will fulfill his objective with a remarkable degree of consistency and skill.

DeForest, Miss Gretchen Wahl, Miss Dorothy Peacock, and Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard. Reservations should be made today.

Pouring at the tea tables at the general meeting of the club on 3 December were Mrs. F. B. Seville, Mrs. William McM. Chapman, Mrs. George Meyer, and Mrs. Stuart Moser. Hostesses were Mrs. E. M. Davis, Mrs. Mary T. Thomas, Mrs. Carroll S. Stoddard, and Mrs. W. L. White.

At the garden section meeting on 26 November, hostesses were Miss Sophie Burgdorf, Miss Katherine Koch, Mrs. Robert Johnson, and Mrs. Leonard Steinmetz. Pouring tea and coffee were Mrs. Norma Smith, Mrs. V. R. Woodruff, Mrs. S. B. Moore, and Miss Alice Seckels.

TOWN HOUSE

The Fort Ord Chorus will sing at Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday at 3 p.m., following a program of Christmas music.

Town House will be open every day, and will serve Christmas dinner on 25 December, but all classes will be recessed during the Christmas and New Year's weeks.

L'ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

A Christmas party has been scheduled by L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula for its membership on Sunday evening at the Carmel Art Association Gallery (Dolores between Fifth and Sixth) at 7 o'clock.

A program will be presented jointly by Raymond Surdez and Raymond Orta. There will be group singing of French Christmas songs accompanied by Miss Lucile Ray on her accordion.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. Claude Courteol of Pebble Beach, who is aided by Mrs. John Dowdakin, Mrs. Raymond Surdez, and Mrs. Phyllis Jervay.

Mrs. James L. Hathaway, Mrs. Alice Legrand, Mrs. Robert D. Clappett, Mrs. Henri Baron, and Mrs. Dowdakin will assist the group's president, Mrs. Jerome E. Carlson, in receiving.

Captain Ralph Arnt, Alliance's vice president William Cano, Andre Degremont, and Jean Gabriel will take turns presiding over the punch bowl. There will also be a Christmas yule log.

Everyone attending the party is asked to bring a gift which will be placed at the foot of the tree for mixed distribution to all.

MPVS

Installation of new officers and members of the executive board took place at a meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services at the USO, Monterey, on Friday. Mrs. Archer Allen, outgoing president, turned her gavel over to Mrs. W. Lincoln Noelle, incoming president.

Mrs. Noelle introduced the new board members, who are Mrs. Harold F. Pullen, vice president; Mrs. Gilbert Kenney, recording secretary; Mrs. William Howard Church, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruth Wingfield, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Dresser, finance chairman; Mrs. Franklin B. Mrad, hospitality chairman; Mrs. H. Lee Weber, membership and placement chairman; Mrs. C. E. Howland, office and supplies chairman; Mrs. W. Egbert Schenck, publicity chairman; Mrs. J. B. Farrior, thrift shop chairman.

A grant of $1,500.00 to the Monterey County Symphony Association was voted on and passed, and a gift of $913.11 to the Seaside Seniors, a group participating in the Seaside Adult Recreation Center. This last sum represented the proceeds from the last two weeks of November at the thrift shop in Seaside.

MARGARET MEAD WHIPS UP AN ANTHROPOLOGICAL PIE

BY GERRY BROOKS

Margaret Mead, America's own anthropological Betty Crocker, whose books about other cultures have added spice and some understanding to the goo of Western society, spoke before approximately 900 people at MPC Friday night on the subject of "Independence and Interdependence."

Americans, she implied, with a charming innuendo of friendly mockery, detectable only in her tone and facial expressions, were perhaps a bit too proud of their "independence" and needed to accept "interdependence" among nations in order to survive in the age of The Bomb.

She did not question whether we might be losing our independence within our own nation, just said that we should stop being so proud of having it, so we could think more internationally, and work toward a world system of authority, which would make it unprofitable for any power to bomb another, a shrieking fact that great scientists, such as Einstein and Bertrand Russell, started broadcasting the day the first bomb fell on Hiroshima.

Dr. Mead emphasized that she was not speaking of a "super state" when she spoke of a new world order, but something perhaps similar to the system used by international airlines, in which each plane stays in its own channel for the sake of survival, while still accomplishing its job of trade and social intercourse. Generally confusing. But this critique is not to put down Dr. Mead herself, or her work, or world interdependence, only to put down her performance Friday night, and the performances of other public figures in the lecture series.

The lecturers seem to think they must please everybody and generalize the bones from their thought. Last year Aldous Huxley, one of the clearest and most provocative minds of this century, droned glibly until (I guess) he stopped; I was asleep. Who has the right to stand before 900 people and give anything but the best of his mind? Anybody who can get by with it, apparently.

Now and then Dr. Mead did come through with some middling cracks about things in general:

"We send spies over there (to Russia) to see how they are behaving so we can behave in the same way."

On our failure to recognize Red China:

"They're so different we don't know how to think about them, and so we have a simple solution—we just don't think about them at all. We think that if we don't admit they're there, they'll go away."

Then she rose about two feet off the ground criticizing U.S. official attitudes about foreign aid. "We always phrase it as self-interest," she said, "to stop communism, which is not wholly true. And if people dislike us for our aid, that's probably the reason. We make it political, as though we have forgotten that the real reason you feed people is just because they're hungry." And suggesting a model for a universal language such as a new world system would need, she gave out with a full delightful minute of "pidgin English."

Well... okay. But those seats were hard and the army was hot.

YOUTH CONFERENCE ON ALCOHOLISM

The fifth annual Youth Conference on Alcoholism was held Thursday, 29 November, at Asilomar. The program began with an introductory speech by Victor Davis, B.A., B.D., chairman of the planning committee.

Davis spoke briefly on the purpose and aims of the Alcoholism Conference, and outlined the different courses of action open to the alcoholic. Mike Patterson, of CHS, gave a schedule of the afternoon and evening. Patterson, the one male member of the Youth Planning committee, was elected youth chairman.

Following, there was a speech by Vincent Vandre. Vandre, Public Information Director of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation division of the California state department of public health, spoke on the relationship of the teenager to the problem of alcoholism. In his speech, Alcoholism and You, he defined "good health" as the state of well being of the mind, the body, and the emotions. Alcoholism is a detriment to good health, and therefore is a disease, he said.

He went on to say that one out of every 13 men is an alcoholic; that 60% to 75% of the adult population drinks; that there were 3,350 new alcoholics in 1960 alone; that the male alcoholics outnumber the females almost six to one; and that due to accidents, absenteeism, and deficiency, the annual hangover in industry amounted to one-billion dollars annually.

Drinking, Vandre pointed out, is a social practice, while alcoholism is not. The difference is that, in one case, the person used the alcohol to his pleasure, while in the other the alcohol controlled the person, usually to his own detriment.

Following this presentation there was a recess. Then the group divided into two smaller groups, to study the question of what happens to alcoholics and their families. The panels for the groups consisted of recovered alcoholics and relatives of alcoholics. The time was spent for general questions and answers. After this the groups separated into seminars for even more detailed discussion.

At 5:00 o'clock supper was served, after which Mrs. Ross explained how the youth could work against alcoholism. Among possible projects were school-sponsored films, conferences, attendance at Al-a-teen and Al-non. These are similar to Alcoholics Anonymous: they are designed for relatives of alcoholics and other interested people. Also, newspaper coverage and distribution of pamphlets was suggested.

Lloyds Off To Mexico

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd will leave Carmel by automobile for a winter holiday in Mexico. First stop en route will be at San Luis Obispo, where they will pick up their youngest daughter, Mardi, and Sam Morse, both students at California State Polytechnic College.

They will then head for Alamos, Mexico, on the gulf near Guaymas. Here they will meet Sam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Boit Morse, of Pebble Beach, and will all motor together to Matzatlan, then part company. Mrs. Lloyd and Mardi will fly to Puerto Vallarta, where the Lloyds have rented a house; Mr. Lloyd and Sam will follow them either by ship or the local "bone-shaking" bus.

On hand at Puerto Vallarta will be Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vial, and their daughter, Susie, who flew there last week for their annual winter visit.

Sam Morse will fly back to California 1 January to resume his studies at Cal Poly; the Lloyds and Mardi will be back in Carmel at the end of January.

Third Son For Ursinos

Christopher and Jonathan Ursino, aged four and three, have a new brother, Theodore Joseph, who was born 24 November at the Community Hospital, Parents of the three little boys are Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Ursino (Edith Rigdon) of Carmel Valley.

Teddy, as the baby is called, is the great-grandson of Mrs. Walter Rigdon of Carmel, and the grandson of Colonel and Mrs. Jonathan Rigdon of Carmel, and Mr. and Mrs. Agatino Ursino, of Monterey.

Other relatives include an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bell (Ann Rigdon) of Carmel Valley, and four cousins, Peggy, Patty, Paula, and five-weeks old Lawrence James Bell.

Former Carmelite Visiting

Mrs. Howard Johnson is here from White Bear Lake, Minnesota, on her annual visit at the home of Mrs. Paul Flanders in the Eighty Acres. Mrs. Johnson is remembered by many as Yodee Remsen when she lived here with her former husband, the late Ira ("Rem") Remsen, author of Inchling and Mr. Bunt, plays written especially for Carmel children and the Forest Theater, and first produced here in the 1920's.

Inchling had a third revival at the Forest Theater last summer.

The Thompsons Have A Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. John Cole Thompson of Carmel became the parents of a daughter, Heather, on 28 November at the Community Hospital. The baby's father is a flamenco guitarist of note, and her mother is the former Jeanine Joyce Hendrickson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Milton Thompson, of Carmel, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne G. Hendrickson, of Montecito, are the proud grandparents.

Carneys Return

Arriving this week from Santa Barbara, where they have been spending the fall, will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carney, who will be occupying the Frank Lloyd house on San Carlos Street.

Among those welcoming the Carneys home will be their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baxter, and two small grandsons, Michael and David.

Hawaii Holiday For Deckers

Former Carmelites Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, who lived here from the mid-1930's until 1959, and now make their home on Corral de Tierra Road, Salinas, will fly 23 December to the Hawaiian Islands for a two weeks holiday. They will be accompanied by their son, Padgett, a former Sunset Schooler now in his junior year at Salinas High School.

The Deckers' daughter, Durrell, will be on the opposite side of the world, celebrating her second consecutive Christmas abroad. She has been exploring Europe since she flew to Belgium in September, 1961 and after spending the summer in Morocco, is at present enrolled at a university in Bordeaux, France, studying French, Arabic and ancient history, "six days a week until 6 p.m.," according to her father. She will be home in June.

Two More Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Hagar, of Carmel, became the parents of a son, Terry Wendell, on 28 November at the Community Hospital.

A son, Nicolaus Neil, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack N. Swanson of the Jamesburg Route, Carmel Valley, on 29 November at the Community Hospital.

Bon Voyage, Benedicts

Their Nigerian visas at last in hand, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Benedict and their four children, Tina, Chris, Peter and Charlie, will fly to New York on Saturday, then board M. S. Tana, a Norwegian freighter, Africa bound.

Christmas will be celebrated somewhere on the Atlantic, and after ports of call in Sierra Leone, Liberia and Ghana, the Tana will reach Nigeria, docking at either Lagos or Port Harcourt, probably on 7 or 8 January.

From there the Benedicts will travel to Awo Omamma, East Nigeria, where they will live for at least two years, Mr. Benedict having signed a teaching contract with Dr. Ben Nzeribe, founder of a newly established vocational high school there.

Mrs. Benedict says that their African address will be Community Grammar School, Awo Omamma, Orlu, East Nigeria, also that the school is in need of books, especially children's, for its expanding library. "Sea mail takes weeks, of course, but the parcel post rate for used books is not excessive," she adds.

Holidays In Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Shreve M. Archer, Jr., of Pebble Beach, with their son, Mac, and Mrs. Archer's parents, the James Douds of Carmel, will spend Christmas in Hawaii, leaving here Tuesday.

They will fly home in time for Mac to return to Ojai, where he is a student at Thatcher School.

Scholarships

Two Carmel High School girls, Michael (Mike) Sherry and Valerie Whitworth, were recently honored as runners-up in the 1962 Achievement Awards competition of the National Council of Teachers of English as a result of their entries, three compositions including autobiographical sketches, impromptu themes and out-of-class papers.

In California, only 70 students were so honored — 35 as winners and 35 as runners-up. Nationwide, 870 students were judged outstanding in high school English. The Council recommends these students for college scholarships, and approximately 80% of them receive financial aid.

Mike, who plans to be a writer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Sherry of Arriba Del Mundo Drive, Carmel; and Valerie, who plans to major in biochemistry, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rex Whitworth of South Carmel Hills Drive, Carmel.

Mrs. Ruth Cox

A well known resident of Carmel for the past 38 years, Mrs. Ruth McNaughton Cox, died Sunday morning in a local hospital after a long illness. Wife of the late Col. Elmer Cox, she was born in Atchison, Kansas.

Mrs. Cox leaves a daughter, Mrs. John A. Clancy, of Carmel; a son Richard Cox Sargent, of Hollywood; three grandchildren, Palmer, Cathleen and John B. Clancy, all of Carmel; and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Mission Mortuary, with Rev. David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiating. Grave-side rites were held yesterday afternoon in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Lt. Col. Everett

A week ago this evening while in the Fort Ord Hospital, Lt. Col. Edward Milton Everett (USA ret.) died suddenly. A veteran of years' commissioned service in the Army, Col. Col. Everett retired from the service at Ft. Myer, Va., in 1960, and with his wife, Lady May, established a home on Taylor Road in Carmel. Other survivors include his mother, three nieces and two nephews.

A requiem Mass was celebrated Tuesday at the Carmel Mission Basilica, and burial services with full military honors took place in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Amelia Lafferty

The death, on Friday, of Mrs. Amelia Petra Lafferty has been reported. She expired in a local hospital following a long illness.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The availability of divine protection and safety will be explained Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from the Bible (II Timothy): "The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom."

One of the citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 151): "The divine Mind that made man maintains His own image and likeness."

These verses from Psalm 121 will also be read: "The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

Red Peppers

Backstage life and the less glamorous, though hilarious, side of vaudeville will inaugurate a new dinner-theatre policy when Noel Coward's Red Peppers, and Howard Reed's Town Hall—Tonight! open tomorrow night, Friday, December 14, at Carmel's Studio Restaurant and Theatre.

The Studio's evening will begin with a buffet dinner to be served from 6:30-7:30, followed by the theatrical production at 8:30.

The two one-act comedies concern the trials and tribulations of actors touring the English provinces and the American "sticks" in the days when the "10-20-thirt" touring repertory companies were the only entertainment for small town audiences.

The production marks the return of Charles Thomas, well-known for his many successful shows in local theatres, as both actor and director. Appearing with Thomas will be two of the Peninsula's favorite actresses, Peg Miner and Gertrude Chappell, last seen together in the riotous Breath of Spring. Cliff Berry, of last summer's Where's Charley?, is also in the cast, along with Tiny Newman, Pamela Paterson, Robert Horne, and Kenneth Slatter, all making their Studio debuts.

Production staff for the plays will be Ruth Jordan Allan, who will execute the scenic design; Dale Lefler, in charge of choreography for Red Peppers; and Gary Rominger, in his first appearance at the Studio, at the piano.

Red Peppers and Town Hall—Tonight! will play Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays through January, with the exception of 21, 22, and 23 December. The Studio also serves lunch and dinner daily.

Honors

Pamela Joan Rosewall, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Rosewall, and a 1962 graduate of Carmel High School, is among 546 freshmen, approximately 16 per cent of the class, at the University of California at Berkeley who have been awarded "honors at entrance." To qualify, a student must have received nearly all A's in subjects on which college admission is based. Pam was one of 16 honor students in her CHS class.

Point of Order

The city council of Birmingham, England, has voted to authorize its members to consume sandwiches during meetings.
